

EAR-53 — PARENTING: GUIDING YOUNG CHILDREN - APPROACHES TO DISCIPLINE

About This Course

2.00 units

Prerequisite: None.

Description: An examination of various theoretical approaches to child guidance with an overview of social and emotional development in young children and the need for guidance. Exploration about how values that people hold influence and shape the behavior of young children. Problem-solving techniques that utilize positive behavioral support methods will be examined and discussed. 36 hours lecture. (Letter grade only)